FROM THE DIRECTOR

Summer is upon us and that means the kids are enjoying a break from school. But that doesn’t mean they should take a break from reading. Students who read during the summer break return to school having maintained or improved their reading levels. And that’s the goal of the OCLS Summer Reading Program. Peruse this newsletter and visit ocls.info/srp to find lots of fun reading programs that will be offered at all library locations this month and all summer long.

Now there’s reading fun for adults as well. On June 27, the library system will host a daylong celebration of books and reading at the Orlando Public Library. Rick Yancey, author of The 5th Wave, will kick off the day with a keynote address at 11 a.m. Yancey’s remarks will be followed by the opportunity to meet and mingle with authors from a variety of genres as well as attend book discussions. Please see page 3 for details.

Those who want to take it a level beyond reading and write a book will want to visit our Writers’ Corner. Whether you’re into poetry, sci-fi or romance, OCLS has a program for you. Check out page 4 to discover an event near you. It’s time to celebrate summer, reading and writing. Enjoy!

Tiny Houses
Alafaya Branch
Saturday, July 18, 2 p.m.
Do-it-yourself builder Shorty Robbins and professional builder Andrew Bennett will share information on tiny houses. Stop by for a tour of an actual tiny house to see if you too could live a tiny life.
