Investigations in Art and Science

Orlando Public Library, Library Central

Saturday, October 21, 2 p.m.

Question the concept of time, ponder the human experience and uncover the fascinating collaborations of art and science through the works by artists Rosa Barba, Trevor Paglen, Tacita Dean, Tomás Saraceno, Noah Doely and more. Join Dale Montgomery Fellow, Elizabeth Coulter to learn more about the Cornell Fine Arts Museum, Rollins College and how to explore these works in person.

The Lines That Join Us

Orlando Public Library

On Display Through November

The Lines That Join Us is a collection of portraits by photographer Carrie Moran that tell the stories of people who have chosen to get tattoos in response to the Pulse tragedy. Each portrait is accompanied by a brief narrative, and will introduce viewers to one of the many who have decided to honor the 49 and greater LGBTQ+ community in this way. The Lines That Join Us will be on display at the Orlando Public Library through November.

Horror by Design

Orlando Public Library, Second Floor

On Display Through October

Celebrate the spooky season by visiting this exhibit of classic horror movie posters on the second floor of the Orlando Public Library. Brought to you from the collections of staff members Brian Haynes and Casey Hayden, this display of spine-tingling poster art will be the perfect treat for horror lovers throughout the entire Halloween season.

The Color of Magic: The Art of JJ Dennis

Southwest Branch

On Display Through December

JJ Dennis is a local freelance writer and artist specializing in altered books, mixed media art and digital photography/manipulation. This dynamic exhibit focuses on color and features a collection of photographs and mixed-media works that explore the artist’s perception of reality and love of the fantastical. Her work has been on display at galleries and museums throughout Central Florida and Clearwater Beach.
