Remembering Kendrick B. Melrose

On April 16, 2012, Orange County Library System received the largest single private gift in its history when benefactor Kendrick B. Melrose donated $1 million in memory of his mother, Dorothy Lumley Melrose. The gift was used to enact the construction of The Dorothy Lumley Melrose Center for Technology, Innovation & Creativity, a space that offers a new spectrum of innovative services to library customers.

On May 3, 2020, Ken Melrose passed away at the age of 79. The former Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Toro Co. will be remembered fondly for his lifetime of philanthropic work that was not simply limited to his contribution to Orange County Library System. Throughout the years he supported many charitable causes through the Melrose Family Foundation including sustainability programs and a center for the treatment and care of eating disorders in Minnesota.

In 1995, Mr. Melrose published Making the Grass Greener on Your Side, which shared his innovative management philosophy of leading by serving. The book, which includes a foreword by Stephen R. Covey (The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People), can be found in the library’s collection.

The Dorothy Lumley Melrose Center will continue to serve as a testament to Mr. Melrose’s public-spirited generosity.

Every day the center provides library customers opportunities to inspire and invigorate creativity and accomplishment through The Melrose Center’s various production studios, fabrication labs, classes and events.

DIY: Pride Film Festival

June is Pride Month in commemoration of the Stonewall Uprising in June of 1969. In recognition of this occasion, we have selected eight films for you to create a Pride film festival in your own living room or wherever you may be. No need to stop with our suggestions, there is a wealth of LGBT+ related films on our digital platforms and DVD collection. Don’t forget: You can request DVDs for Home Delivery.

KANOPY

Brother Outsider (2003)
Bayard Rustin was an integral part of many important events of the Civil Rights Movement – but always in the background. This documentary intermingles the personal and political to ask the question, “Why?”

Kumu Hina (2014)
Until Hawai‘i was colonized, māhū were an accepted, even respected, third gender. This touching documentary follows Hina, a māhū woman and Hawaiian culture activist, and her struggle to find love and respect in today’s world.

Moonlight (2016)
Based on a play by Tarell Alvin McCraney, this Oscar-winning film examines three defining periods in the life of Chiron Harris, a young African American man struggling with his identity and sexuality.

HOOPLA

Fourth Man Out (2015)
After celebrating his 24th birthday, a mechanic (Evan Todd) decides to tell his three lifelong buddies (Parker Young, Chord Overstreet, Jon Gabrus) that he is gay. This tender comedy is not always politically correct, which ultimately lends a realistic, if atypical, take on the coming out experience.

Our House (2008)
Directed by Meema Spadola, this groundbreaking documentary explores what it’s like to grow up with gay or lesbian parents, as Americans struggle to redefine family values.

I am the Queen (2015)
In Chicago’s Humboldt Park neighborhood, the Vida/Sida Caico Paseante brings together members of the Puerto Rican community to celebrate its transgender and genderbending participants. Rolling Stone called this documentary “an essential queer time capsule.”

DVD

Beginners (2010)
This memoir from director Mike Mills (20th Century Women), features Christopher Plummer as a recent widower who decides to come out to his adult son (Ewan McGregor) at age 75. The film features humorous and often heartwarming moments as Plummer learns to embrace his new identity.

Carol (2015)
Rooney Mara and Cate Blanchett play two women from radically different backgrounds who meet through chance and begin an impassioned affair. Based on the groundbreaking novel The Price of Salt, this Oscar-nominated film offers a romantic and mature portrait of a female couple.
